The Govern. where so many dangers await them. montoould not believe that there existed any important class among the loyal people of the British empire who grudged to Royalty the very moderate provision necessary to maintain its dignity, a dignity which was not alone that of the Royal Family, but of the empire as well. I the system of other civilised countries were way was by all odds furnishes as it does at Royal Family entails, that stability which is obtains for England the respect of every people benefit of stable government which they so largely owed to their Royal Family; nor could he believe that for the same reason the nation was prepared to sacrifice the dignity of their rulers And the dignity of the great British Empire.

Mr. Labouchere moved his substitute for the Committee's report. This substitute is in the form of an address to the Queen stating that in the opinion of the House Her Majesty oight to provide for her grandchildren out of her present income. He stated that it was his opinion and the opinion of those who itsed with him on this question Family ont of the public treasury were quite milicient for all purposes with which the people had any concern. He ridicaled the statement that the English system was the most economical in the world, and pointed to the great pation across the water which paid its President a yearly salary of £10,000 as against the £700,000 which the Queen and her family had already cost the people of England every year. He was determined to oppose all further grants to the junior royalties, and he spoke not only for himself but for many others who noted with him in support of this substitute for the Committee's report. Notwithstanding the the inquiries as to the Queen's savings, the Government was already on record as admitting that large savings had been made out of the al- Bankslowance heratofore granted the Queen for her, civil list. These savings he understood, were well invested and if it was true, as it has been stated that the Queen had out of these saving given wrious sums to several of her grandchildren, he had no doubt there was enough left to provide for the others He insisted that the extreme limit which the nation should put upon Darvel Bay Trading.

> IBISE BAILWAY EXTENSION. LONDON, 23rd July.

By a vote of 230 to 76, the House of Commons this evening passed the bill granting a lump sum of £600,000 out of the treasury for the building of railways in Ireland. By the provisions of the bill the Government may elect to use instead of this lump sum an annual payment of $2,000 in perpetuity for the purpose. THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

LONDON, 25th July. Before the special Commission, Mr. Hardcastle, professional accountant, deposed he had examined the books of the National League and found them accourate, and all money accounted for. He simitted that a deficiency existed in the Laud League accounts, and to the absence of some of the books and vouchers. After taking his testimony the commission adjourned until October 24th

At the adjourned Parnell Commission to-day presiding Justice Hannen ordered that Thomas Condon and John O'Comnor, M.P.'s, who were brought from the Irish gaols to testify before the Commission, be confined in a London prison for the rest of their terms of imprisonment. LOWDON GOSRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone celebrated their golden wedding to-day. There is a grand jubilee to-day at Hawarden, commemorating the 50th auniversary of Gladstone's marriage. The whole United Kingdom sent forth memorial addresses and other tributes of respect. The Prince of Wales and thous nds of dignitaries sent pleasat words of commemoration. The Queen telegraphed her congratulations from Ostone to the er Premier and his aged wife to-day. The Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the Royal House sent letters of congratulations and the Prince of Wales sent a gold inkstand. A portrait of Mr. Gladstone with his grandson painted by Millals, was presented by a number of wives of the Liberal members of Parliament. The Mandard, which asserted that Father Coveney, of Dunmanway, Ireland, publicly prayed test God would strengthen the hands of the man who killed Inspector Martin at Gweedore, has decided to apologise and to pay £100 damages.

The preparations of the Gladstone Liberal Club for the celebration of the ex-premier's golden welding this evening are on a magnificent scale.. For their exercise they have built a beautiful terrace overbanging the river front, 160 feet long and 28 feet wide, roofed over with canvas and richly draped in blue and golden pi. lars, and the walls are thickly studded with electric lights, and flowers and plants, and are profusely scattered about. The whole terrace presents the appearance of a tropical garden. In Hawarien, Gladstone's home, the church bells were kept ringing all day to-day. Several orsusties occurred this morning to the war ships assembling to take part in the cortheoming naval review. The armoured cruiser Amora shifted her plates in a heavy sea, and shipped so much water that she became quite helplass.
